Course Description

The Fashion Promotion & Communication course allows you to explore the creative fashion media and professional practices in which fashion promotion, advertising and marketing, building worlds and narratives in a contemporary and dynamic visual communication industry. You will be introduced to practice-based research and media design methodologies as well as other creative processes to inform and develop your professional practice. You will explore traditional and emerging media practice across analogue and digital platforms, whilst developing a thorough knowledge of transdisciplinary approaches to content creation.

The Fashion Promotion & Communication course also looks to challenge existing preconceptions and definitions of the fashion media creative, how they can build and drive thinking and conversations in promotion and visual communication. The course seeks to encourage students to view themselves as problem solvers, thinkers as well as creatives. The course team, is made up of academics, practising fashion media professionals, designers, and experts in visual communication.

The course fosters an understanding of contemporary creative practice and critical discourse. The Course will allow you to explore intellectual and innovative practices, to examine existing definitions of fashion promotion and communication, whilst exploring future directions of the fashion media creative.

The first year of the degree will introduce students to the core methodologies and skills that underpin contemporary concepts and the fundamental principles of fashion promotion, communication, media production and content creation. Students will explore the creative processes and techniques adopted by the fashion industry, and how the fashion media creative can begin to apply this knowledge and insights in practice. Working on an engaging and challenging project brief, student will experiment with and develop visual communication and practice-based research skills.

The second year of the degree will focus on the development of the student's personal professional practice, and the development of skills for industry. It is an exploration of creative strategies, media design and world building. Using the skills and knowledge developed in the first year of the degree, with a focus on applying contemporary methodologies, to form ambitious and challenging development of ideas. There will be an emphasis on narrative and refinement of fashion media production skills, how to unique signature style and skill for industry as well as to prepare students for a placement or future employment.

In the final year, students will further their knowledge, refine skills needed to develop contemporary content creation, showcase their personal professional practice, and develop their industry portfolio, and a final major project. The self-directed project is a demonstration and development of transdisciplinary knowledge and skills which evidences the student's comprehensive understanding and critical awareness of fashion media production, promotion, and visual communication practices more broadly, creating work that challenges and provides creative solutions, tailored for a chosen audiences or fashion brands.

Course Aims

Course Regulations

Entry Requirements

Please refer to the institutional regulations on the expected minimum entry requirements (found under Section 5 of the General Academic Regulations found on the website here), and the course page on the Ravensbourne University website for course specific entry requirements.

Accreditation of Prior Learning (if applicable)

Applications are welcomed from those who may not possess formal entry qualifications, mature students, those with work experience or with qualifications other than those listed above. Such applicants should demonstrate sufficient aptitude and potential to complete the course successfully. Applicants will be assessed at interview in accordance with Ravensbourne’s Accreditation of Prior Learning Policy and Procedure and Student Transfer Plan.

Conditions for Progression

Students will be deemed to have passed a module if they achieve a 40% for undergraduate students; or a 50% for postgraduate students.

A student who has passed all assessments to date but has not yet reached the end of a level (or stage) will be permitted to proceed into the following term by the Interim Assessment Board.

Reassessment of Failed Elements

Failure in any component will result in a Fail grade for the component.

Non-submission in any component will result in a non-submission for the component.

Students must then successfully retrieve the failed or non-submitted component by resubmission of assessment in order to pass the module.

Where a student does successfully retrieve a component failure, the grade for the component will be capped at 40% (undergraduate) or 50% (postgraduate) (except where Extenuating Circumstances have been approved). The overall grade for the module will be calculated using all achieved grades where there are 2 or more components.

Conditions for the Granting of Awards

A student who completes an approved course of study, shall be awarded BA (Hons) Fashion Promotion

Those students who exit the Course without completing it may be entitled to exit with an award of either a:

1. Certificate of Higher Education in Fashion Promotion, provided they complete an approved course of modules and the learning outcomes for such award as set out in the Course Specification.
